Prof. Guy Goodwin-Gill,

University of Oxford

Inaugural Lecture

February 16th, 17.00:

Académie Royale des Sciences, des Lettres et des Beaux-Arts de Belgique, salle Albert II :

"The Right to Seek Asylum: Interception at Sea and the Principle of Non-Refoulement"

The right to seek asylum is continuously challenged by the fight against irregular migration. In particular, the European Union and its Member States take measures to intercept boats on the sea in order to prevent irregular migration: patrols at sea, treaties with countries of origin or transit to readmit the concerned persons, agreements regarding the place of disembarkation,... The problem comes from the fact that asylum seekers are traveling together with undocumented migrants, what is called "mixed flows". Even if the applicability of the principle of non-refoulement is often reaffirmed, the way to implement it represents a real difficulty in such a context.
